FAQS

What is Acceptd for?

Your Acceptd application is an opportunity to let us know more about you, to upload any supporting documents, and if you are auditioning by video recording or providing prescreening recordings, to upload your audition videos. Acceptd is the system the panels use to get to know you and to make notes and decisions on all applications.

I am applying for two Principal Studies. Should I submit two Acceptd applications?

Yes - if you are applying for two different Principal Studies (for example, Piano and also Ensemble Piano, or Opera and Vocal Studies) so you have two UCAS Conservatoires choices, you will need to go back to our Acceptd Landing Page and complete a profile for the second Principal Study.

I am thinking of applying for two different courses with the same Principal Study. Should I submit two Acceptd applications?

No – please only submit one UCAS Conservatoires choice, and one Acceptd application. If you are interested in two different courses (for example, MMus and MA, or Advanced Artist Diploma and Professional Diploma, or BMus and Gap Year), you only need to complete one UCAS choice and one Acceptd application.
Please note that in your Acceptd application you should submit the supporting documents for all the courses you are interested in (see our Entry Requirements page).

I have created an account. Why don't I have an application ID?

It is possible that you have created an Acceptd account, but you have not started/completed an application on the Royal Academy of Music Acceptd page. Please follow the instructions on Page 1, explaining how to complete an application.

Where can I ask a question not listed above?

Please get in touch with the Admissions Team at admissions@ram.ac.uk, or for technical questions about the Acceptd portal you can use the Help button on the Acceptd screen.

Thank you!
